SAN PABLO MAN MURDERS HIS WIFE AND KILLS HIMSELF

WOMAN WELL KNOWN HERE IS DYING FROM DEADLY DRUG

Despondency over ill health and grieving because of the condition of her son who was formerly in the service of his country in the World War, Mrs. Martha A. Cone, who resided in Point Richmond for many years, is lying at death's door at the Central Emergency Hospital, San Francisco, as the result of bi-chloride of mercury tablets which she is alleged to have taken with suicidal intent.

Husband Former S. O. Employe

Mrs. Cone's husband was employed by the Standard Oil Company in Richmond for several years. During that period the Cones resided in Scenic avenue, this city. Cone now is engaged in mining at Darwin, California.

The son is reported to be in a private sanitarium in Portland, Oregon, undergoing treatment for mental trouble.

Mrs. Cone was a recent visitor in Richmond, and is well known in fraternal circles of this city.

Friends Here Informed

Richmond friends of Mrs. Cone are in close touch with the hospital where she is being carefully watched. One of these friends last night informed the Record-Herald that the surgeons declare that there is no hope for Mrs. Cone.

Her alleged effort at self destruction occurred Friday.

Mrs. Cone is forty-four years of age, and had been residing at 520 Hayes street, San Francisco.

Lincoln's Birthday Is To Be Honored

Lincoln's birthday will be celebrated Monday by patriotic speeches to be delivered in the various schools of the city.

The banks and the post office will be closed.

Highways of County Stand Severe Test of Heavy Rains

Despite the heavy rain there has been no appreciable damage to highways. Surveyor R. R. Arnold made another inspection trip over highways and reports that the storm results are but two slight breaks in the pavement of the Franklin Canyon highway. There are numerous slides along both the canyon and waterfront highways, slides on the latter being the worst. Arnold has a crew of men at work on the canyon road and declares it will be kept open to traffic. The state has its highway crew at work clearing the waterfront road.

The rains appear to be over for the time being.

A great big, golden moon was hanging high in the heavens last night. The stars were twinkling in cloudless skies, and the temperature had tobogganed some fifteen degrees. Sign of frost were manifest, and the wind blew sharply from the Sierras.

A. H. LACASSE IS DEAD IN OAKLAND

Albert H. LaCasse, formerly of Richmond, where he was employed by the Standard Oil Company, died in Oakland Friday. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock, from the Grant D. Miller chapel, East Fourteenth street, Oakland, and will be under the auspices of Live Oak Lodge No. 61, F. and A. M.

Albert LaCasse was born in the state of New York and was in his forty-ninth year. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth M. LaCasse and by a brother, who lives in San Francisco.

He was a member of West Gate Lodge No. 335, F. & A. M., Los Angeles, and of Oakland Lodge of Perfection, A. & A. S. R.

Bandana Joe, Seer of Clam Flats, Issues Forecast

Bandana Joe, local seer who reads the signs of the zodiac and who gleans from the singing stars their tuneful message to mankind, has given out a forecast exclusively to the Record-Herald, which covers the weather for sometime to come.

From his observatory in the Tower of Jewels at Clam Flats, near Richmond, Bandana Joe, by virtue of an instrument of great length and power, snatches secrets that mere mortal may only dream of. He says:

February 11 to 13, general severe storm period, moving eastward and slowly increasing with high winds, rain, snow and exceedingly cold weather. February 14 to 16, cold wave starting in the northwest and moving south by southwest; 17 to 18, mild easterly to southerly winds; cloudy on the 19th for local storm. Twentieth to 23rd, storm period with high winds and rain; 24th to 28th cold and fair; 27th and 28th heavy storm starting in the west.

Joe admonishes the public to keep this notice and check up on his forecast.

S. M. WRIGHT KILLS WIFE AND TURNS GUN AND SHOOTS SELF

S. M. Wright, a florist living in San Pablo, this morning about 2 o'clock shot his wife to death, and turning the weapon upon himself, sent a bullet through his own temple. He died en route to the hospital.

The weapon used was a 38-calibre revolver.

The crime was committed in the shadow of St. Paul's Catholic church.

There were no witnesses to the murder.

After shooting his wife three times, Wright sat down and wrote a note to his 20-year-old son, giving advice to him. Then, took a hand mirror to enable a sure aim, and sent a bullet through his head.

The murder and suicide were committed in the bathroom of the home, and the floor was spattered with blood, and gave other gruesome evidence of the crime.

The son, who had been attending a dance, stated to the coroner that his parents had been quarreling off and on for some time. The crime came as a climax.

Wright was about 45 years old; his wife was 39.

They had lived in San Pablo for three years, and prior to that had lived in Richmond for seven years.

Wright was a gardener by trade.

Coroner Charles F. Donnelly went to the scene of the crime, to conduct an investigation.

The Richmond police responded to a hurry up call, and were on the scene in a few minutes.

New Dodge Prices Finally Announced

The new prices on Dodge Brothers' cars have been made public. The touring car was reduced from $1185 to 1075, or a drop of $110. The panel and screen cars were reduced $160 each, and now sell for $1165 and $1040 respectively. The greatest reduction in prices, however, took place on the inclosed cars, the sedan being reduced from $2025 to $1665, or a drop of $360 in price. The coupe was reduced from $1805 to $1490, or a reduction of $315. These prices all include war tax and freight. This is the second reduction on Dodge Brothers' cars since June 8, 1921, and is in keeping with the policy of the Dodge Brothers' factory of always giving the purchaser the benefit of any saving in the manufacture of the car.

Wife of C. H. Tucker Dies in San Francisco

Mrs. Mary Belle Tucker, wife of Charles H. Tucker, of 2744 Florida street, died at the University of California hospital, San Francisco, yesterday evening. She had been at the hospital for four days.

Deceased was a native of Iowa, and was aged 40 years. She had been a resident of Richmond for the past seven years. Her husband is a foreman of the Standard Oil Company.

In addition to the husband, Mrs. Tucker is survived by a daughter, Fay Tucker, and by one sister, Mrs. Alice Smith, of Alberta, Canada. She was a member of the order of Rebekahs.

Funeral arrangements have not been perfected.

BOY DROWNS IN TWO FEET OF WATER AT COUNTY SEAT

The flood waters that swept through this section of California yesterday took human toll at Martinez when little 5-year-old George Rott was drowned in a small stream that had been swollen by the raging waters.

The lad, with a companion, five year-old Thomas Davis, was playing on the banks of the creek. The lad slipped and fell into the stream. The swift waters, only two feet deep, hurried him along in the current, and despite the heroic efforts of his little companion to save his life, the latter perished.

The drowned boy was the son of Bernard Rott, an employe of the Shell Oil Company.

Harmony Court Of Amaranth To Give "Blossom Party"

Plans for the annual "Blossom Party" were made last night at the meeting of Harmony Court No. 33, Order of the Amaranth. On the 22nd, the members will go early in the morning to the C. C. Olney ranch at Oakley for an all day picnic. At that time the place will be abloom with the blossoming almond trees that are a feature of the ranch, and it is one of the most looked-forward to events in the year of Harmony Court. All members of the Amaranth are cordially invited to attend and if any with machines have room to spare they are asked to advise Henry J. Hill, worthy patron, whose phone number is 1093-W, and he will arrange for those who have no machines to get a ride out to the Olney home. The automobiles will leave the Masonic Temple at 8 a. m.

On account of sickness the District deputy, who was expected last evening, was unable to attend.

Mrs. Emma Wood Hale was re-elected secretary of the order and Hannah T. Royston trustee to fill an unexpired two year term.

Several candidates were elected last evening and will be initiated at the meeting on Saturday, March 11th.

The four ladies about the altar will be in charge of the next meeting and are: Mrs. Amy Mugg, Mrs. Velma Quinn, Miss Jeannette Pemberton and Miss Ivy Lee.

At the close of the business session an adjournment was made to the banquet rooms, where a delicious Valentine repast was served. Large red bows, the Amaranth color, and red hearts were arranged on the tables with pleasing effect.

RECORD-HERALD TO PUBLISH ARTICLES ON THE COST OF RUNNING CONTRA COSTA CO.

In a short time the Record-Herald will start the publication of a series of articles relating to affairs of the County of Contra Costa.

The data is now being prepared from the records of the county at Martinez, and the articles will go into all phases of county government, its management, the growth in the past number of years the increase that has taken place in the tax rate, the number of county officials, their salaries, the number of deputies in the different offices and their compensation, and a comparison between this county and other counties of California of about the same and larger population, so far as general expenses are concerned.

These articles are being compiled as the result of requests made by a large number of property owners, and the facts so far gleaned show that the matter will be intensely interesting.

Some of the many questions that have been asked, and that only research could give the answer are:

"How do salaries of county officials in this county compare with those in counties of a similar population or larger?"

"Has there been any effort made to get away from the 'war basis' of expenditures?"

"Could expenses of the county be reduced without crippling any department?"

"Has the law been complied with, which provides that supervisor districts shall be as nearly equal in population as possible?"

"Is there any law that provides for life tenure of office?"

"Would it be possible for the offices of the county to be conducted with a lesser number of deputies?"

"Would the employment of a purchasing agent mean economy for the taxpayers?"

All of these questions will be taken up and answered for the taxpayers, the data from the records being supplied, and the public will be allowed to form their own conclusions.

CORONATION OF POPE PIUS TODAY

ROME, Feb. 11.—Final plans for the coronation of Pope Pius XI were completed today at the Vatican. The pontiff will be crowned tomorrow with the triple tiara of the papacy amidst pomp and ceremony that rate back for centuries.

The two American cardinals who arrived too late for the conclave—Cardinal O'Connell of Boston and Cardinal Daugherty of Philadelphia—will both participate in the coronation rites.

The pontificate of Pope Pius XI will date from the time he has been crowned.

Victrola Gift To Pythian Sisters

Further plans for the presentation of a handsome Victrola to Contra Costa Temple No. 113, Pythian Sisters, on the 18th, were made at a meeting of the Temple in Pythian Castle last evening. The Victrola is the gift of the Sewing Club of the Temple and Mrs. Eliza Hill will make the presentation speech. The meeting will open with a roll call of members and following the business session a social evening and dancing will be enjoyed by invited members and their families. Refreshments will be served.

Sermon at Elks' Club

Clarence Foote promises the boys a good sermon by wireless if they'll be up at the club this morning. The receiving apparatus is getting better all the time. Don't crowd!

Square Dance Club Dance and Feast In Merry Fashion

When Brother Bennett learned to strum the tuneful banjo he did so with a nifty knack, and his instrument in the orchestra bearing his name that plays each Saturday for the Square Dance gives that swing to the music that keeps the feet of the dancers going throughout the evening without ever growing weary.

A glance into the supper room at an early hour last night gave a first impression of the Keystone comedy studios of a year or so back for pies of all sorts and shapes and sizes were stacked on tables, chairs, shelves and even on the floor awaiting the midnight hour when the dancers would adjourn and solace themselves with supper.

The committee serving last evening consisted of: Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Grove; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Calhoun; Mrs. O. W. Evans; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lane and R. Chapman who took the place of O. W. Evans who was unable to attend.

Every Wednesday evening the Golden Gate Square Dance Club meets in Klinker Hall, 59th and San Pablo avenue, over the drug store, and all Square Dance fans are invited to attend. The ladies are asked to bring cakes. The officers in charge of this club are: Messrs. L. E. Snyder, Coy Boyd, Mesdames Anna Andre and Evelyn Coulon.

Drill Team, L. O. M. Having Birthday

M. L. will not take place and they will meet on February 20th. All Mooseheart Legionnaires are requested to attend the banquet and to notify the recorder or the regent before 10:30 tomorrow morning if they cannot be present. The phone numbers are Richmond 768 and 794.

TSAR CALFEE OR CARLSON TO SUCCEED JAMES LONG?

Richmond political circles are alive with rumors touching a successor to Post Master James N. Long in the California assembly.

There is being insistent mention made of the names of Tsar Calfee, Richmond attorney and conspicuous in welfare work for the ex-service men, and T. M. Carlson, present commander of Richmond Post No. 10, American Legion.

Richmond cannot be said at this time to be enjoying a Lion's share in the political gatherings.

The Crockett Signal remarks that "the office of assemblyman seems, so far, to be the only county position conceded to Richmond."

Gustaf Vasa Lodge Planning Masquerade

Future events planned for at the meeting of Gustaf Vasa Lodge last night in Richmond Hall were the Prize Macquerade Ball to be held on the 25th and the Annual Dance to be given some time in April in East Shore Park.

SUNDAY MORNING CHATS

We do not feel overly "chatty" just now, but inclined to sadness and sorrow, because of the death of our only sister, Mrs. Polonia Wentworth, at Fort Dodge, Kansas, a few days ago. But she was nearly 79 years of age, and so it was time for her to go on to that mysterious "better land" we all hope to inherit some day. And if ever anybody has attained it this Little Sister has, for she was a good woman, in all that that implies. She was good to us in infancy, and good in young manhood—always good; and so now we are glad to be able to look back and feel that we were good to her, also. She was reared in the Episcopalian faith, lived a good life and died in peace, surrounded by loving husband and friends. May God rest her soul. We shared both poverty and affluence together, and it was always the same with us whether it was the one or the other—that we will share the home somewhere "over there" together, we have no doubt, and are thankful for the belief.

* * *

These chilly, rainy and foggy mornings, when the whole world looks drab and dank and forlorn, and then the blessed sunshine shows over the hills to the east, we always say, "God bless the sunshine." What a dark and gloomy old world it would be if it were not for the genial and warming, happy and glorious sunshine! And so it is with the humdrum every-day routine of our lives—God's blessed sunshine suddenly appears and shines in upon it and drives away the gloom. We come home tired and fretted with the battle for existence, world weary and depressed, and the blessed sunshine of a smile of cheer and welcome causes us to forget the blue devils and to enjoy the comforts of home and go forth next morning with renewed hope and courage. Sunshine is almost life itself. Without it we would all droop like the flowers in the frost. So, when it brightens the heavens with its red morning glow in the East, let us never forget to look up into the sky and admire it and say, "God bless the sunshine."

* * *

Love is the greatest thing in this whole world. We loved the Little Sister who has just been called beyond; we love the wife and children, the grandchildren, the relatives and friends and the neighbors. We even love the cats and dogs and chickens around the place, and try hard to love all our fellow men, though many of them do not deserve to be loved. We believe that the world has more love in it today than it ever had before, and that the results of the arms conference is one sign of it. To love and be loved means the highest form of happiness that mortals can know. Not to be loved means misery. Those most loved live long and well, and are the ones who accomplish greatest things, in art, music, literature and business. Love and life are synonymous terms. To love means allying yourself to the forces of the Universe, moving with the eternal tides, "hitching your wagon to a star." The nearer we come to loving all mankind the nearer we come to harmony, and only then can our footfalls tinkle with the music of the spheres and our days be radiant. Through the emotion of love that is within us we reflect the Supreme Intelligence, of which we are a part, and become more in tune with the Infinite. To be lovable we must have moral qualities, the traits of character that make you able to put yourself in place of the other person. This means deference, slowness to blame and quickness often, sympathy, slowness to blame and quickness to commend. Do not look upon these things as superficial, for they are not. Mix them with your everyday life and every action and thought. And remember that story of the Quaker: Many were gathered around, expressing sorrow for one in trouble, when a Quaker came along, and one said to him: "Are you, also, sorry for him?" "Yes," replied the Quaker, "I am sorry twenty dollars' worth; how much is thee sorry for him?"

* * *

And speaking of being sorry in a substantial manner, let us all make up our minds to eat oranges for the next year, even if they go as high as ten cents apiece, because our next-door neighbors to the South have just been handed a trouse by old Jack Frost that will prove serious to them unless we all express our sorrow in dollars and cents. When this scribe farmed in Kansas in the early days thereof it was figured that the people were playing in luck if they got one crop out of three, but in California a crop failure is an unheard of thing. The present loss will be only to oranges, and not overly serious, at that. Nothing else has been hurt. So, while sorry for the orange growers, we can at the same time feel grateful and glad that the growers of many other varieties of fruit, nuts, olives, grain, hay, live stock and those who produce agricultural riches of every description are sure of bountiful harvests now that copious rains have fallen, and good prices therefor. There are places where the people have much less to be thankful for than in California—many places—the Eastern States in general, and all Europe, Russia and Asia in particular. There are many portions of our own country where life in less bearable, and comforts and pleasures fewer than here by the placid Pacific. There are very few poverty-stricken people here, such as one sees so many of in the East. Our people all have at least a certain measure of prosperity, and none go hungry or ragged or cold in wintry times. Nearly all who are industriously inclined can find some work at fair wages, and none need suffer for any actual necessities if they will make their wants known, for we are a generous people. Whenever there are dull times in California it is sure that they are much worse in other places.

To appreciate the good things and many blessings of California one should travel to other sections of the country, look around and note the conditions of the plain people. Of course, we can't get everything we want in California, as fast as we want it, for we as a people are prone to want a whole lot, and want it quick, but where on earth can anybody get all that? It is not good for us to have everything we want, anyway—the Lord never intended it that way in the first place. Nature demands that we hustle, and that is why the elements and other stumbling blocks are plentifully strown along our pathway. To have to combat obstacles and work for what we get brings out the latent energies and develops the best type of manhood and womanhood, and that is why the great West, the mountain states and Pacific Coast states, are filled up with sturdy, bustling, energetic, brave, honorable and prosperous men and women.

Cheer up, you fellows down Los Angeles way. If instead of an orange you have been handed a Hollywood lemon, just for this once, there are millions of dollars abroad in this blessed land, and your security and credit are both good! We-uns of the north won't see you lack for eats or raiment as long as our prunes and pumpkins hold out, which will be forever.

* * *

In presenting the four-pact treaties to the Senate Friday, the President declared that unless the treaties receive the Senate's sanction every proclaimed desire to promote peace and prevent war would become a hollow mockery. Let us hope that the Senate quits its petty partisan bickerings, then, and realizes this great fundamental fact, and acts quick in the ratification of these great emblems of peace on earth and good will toward men. America is looked to to take the initiative in this matter, as it did in bringing it about, and the example we set in ratification will be followed by the other nations. It is but human to visit on others the treatment we have received. Distribute sympathy, kindness, good cheer, right intent, human love these things return to us to benefit and bless. The reverse is also true. Give out hate, discord, and thought of destruction, fear, jealousy—all these things come back to plague us. Behind the old proposition, "cast thy bread upon the waters and it shall return to thee after many days," is a great spiritual truth that applies in this matter of entering into these treaties of peace and friendship with other peoples of the world.

* * *

We of Richmond can look out upon the world with serene spirit, and be of good cheer. The winter is passing and the glad springtime is near, when the millions of flowers will bloom again, the days be long and pleasant, work plentiful at a good wage, buildings going up on every hand, the harbor work progressing, and new and big factories coming, birth rate far exceeding the death rate, general health and courage good, and prosperity staring us in the face. It is going to be a good and prosperous year for Richmond and for California, and probably we have deserved it, for, as a rule, we are a law-abiding, honest, hard-working folks, minding our own business, avoiding crime, generous to our fellows and their faults, earnest and industrious. Richmond as a community is peaceful and pleasant. Hate and hypocrisy have no dwelling here. Our factory whistles summon us to the work which God decreed that we should do to earn our bread, and we have not only earned bread in consequence but also automobiles and other luxuries. Therefore should we pause this Sabbath day and give thanks for all these manifold blessings, and say, "For Thine is the Blessing and the Glory, Forever and Ever, Amen."

Queries and Answers On Subject Of the Federal Income Law

By NELSON G. WELBURN
Federal Law Advisor and Income Tax Expert. Offices with T. H. De Lap, First National Bank Bldg.
(Questions on the Income Tax addressed to Nelson G. Welburn, care of the Richmond Record-Herald, will be given prompt and careful attention.)

Q. May the amounts expended by a business man in entertaining out of town customers, or prospective customers, be claimed as deductions? J. H.

A. Yes, if the sole purpose of the business man in making such expenditures is to cultivate the good will of his customers and secure an increase in trade, they may be so claimed.

Q. A, who is employed at Mare Island, lives in Napa. He pays car fare between his home and place of employment. May the amounts expendede for car fare be claimed as a business expense? G. T.

A. No; such amounts are held to be items of personal expense.

Q. May a taxpayer claim a deduction for his own remuneration? A. C.

A. Wages or salary drawn by a taxpayer from his own business are more in the nature of a charge out of profits than a charge against profits. If such could be deducted they would merely be added to his income, the effect of which would be to take money out of one pocket and put it in another. Therefore, no deduction may be claimed for income tax purposes.

Q. Are dividends on paid-up life insurance policies subject to income tax? P. S.

A. Dividends on paid-up life insurance policies are not subject to normal tax, but are subject to surtax for the year in which received.

Q. I hold stock in a corporation which in 1921 increased its capital stock and gave me the right to subscribe for additional stock at par. If I sell this "right" are the proceeds to be returned for tax purposes? V. Y.

A. Yes; the entire proceeds from the sale of a "right" to purchase additional stock should be included in the return as income.

The Momentum of an Idea

Truth Will Triumph

An idea is the definite and logical form which thoughts take on in regard to any subject which is contemplated by the mind. No matter how strange, unusual or even how opposed to established customs or belief an idea may be, if its claims prove to be in harmony with all the essential facts concerning the subject to which the idea is related, it is true and valuable and must be accepted.

An Idea Born Twenty-Five Years Ago

In September, 1895, Harvy Lillard, who had been deaf for seventeen years, called upon D. D. Palmer, a magnetic healer. Mr. Lillard informed the doctor that at the time he became deaf he was lifting a heavy weight and felt something give in his back. Because of the fact that deafness followed a physical strain, Dr. Palmer thought there must be physical evidence of the injury; so he searched for it and found a vertabra that was out of alignment. When Dr. Palmer found this condition the perfectly obvious thing to do, in his opinion, was to apply the necessary force or pressure, by hand, to reduce the vertabra to alignment with the other vertabrae of the column.

He applied this pressure successfully, and Lillard's hearing returned as suddenly as it had gone. Impressed with the results obtained in this case, Dr. Palmer examined the spines of all his patients for irregularities, and experimented with adjusting them. The results were that an astonishing percentage of so-called chronic and incurable cases recovered.

The method that Dr. Palmer used upon Mr. Lillard was named "Chiropractic," and is the same method that is used today, amplified, multiplied and perfected. In twenty five years it has progressed, but the basic idea is the same. From the principle which Dr. Palmer discovered, it has been developed into a science that is being taught in twenty-nine Chiropractic colleges. Ten thousand practitioners scattered over the world have demonstrated the truth of this principle to millions of people.

The Psychology of Progress

The human mind is so constructed that we ofttimes require years of preparation before we are ready to receive the new and the better way. Galileo's ideas that the earth moved and that the sun stood still were condemned by the learned men as blasphemous.

The art of printing, invented by Gutenberg, was considered too promising to the emancipation of thought and the enlightenment of the common people.

Queen Isabella stood alone in supporting the idea of Columbus, who maintained that the earth was round.

Marconi was slow in gaining favor when he announced his invention that would send words anywhere without wires.

The Aeroplane was "dreamed" out and its idea rejected with legendary derision long before man could really fly.

It has been said that a New Truth must pass through three stages of growth, namely: Ridicule, Persecution, and at last, "we always knew it was so."

Dr. Palmer's idea that pressure on nerves caused dis-ease has withstood the test of ridicule, and now is well along the path through persecution. Fifteen States have Boards of Chiropractic Examiners, while seven other States and several foreign countries give Chiropractic legal recognition.

It requires performance to convert millions of people and to win place, power and prestige in a community infested with opposition, miseducation and prejudice. It requires more than political pull and professional bombast to be acquitted by juries when prosecuted, and inscribe laws favorable to Chiropractic on the statute books of state after state. Yet, in a quarter of a century, Chiropractic has done this.

Chiropractic Fundamentals

Scientists tell us that in all nature there are two great forces contending against each other, and that things are as they are because of the action and reaction of these two forces, familiarly known as attraction and repulsion.

If this be true, these two forces work on human beings just as they work on everything else in nature. In Chiropractic parlance one force is called Innate Intelligence and the other environment. Chiropractic teaches that the resistance or susceptibility of the individual must be measured in terms of Innate Intelligence, i. e., vitality or mental impulses.

Chiropractic teaches that when a vertebra is out of alignment and presses upon a nerve, therby shutting off the supply of mental impulses to an organ, cell or tissue, that that organ, cell or tissue becomes "susceptible" to the environment and dis-ease is the result because of the lack of Innate Intellectual Adaptation.

While other professions try to change the environment to suit the debility of the body, chiropractors adjust the body to adapt to the environment.

Anatomists describe a brain and nerve system, and practically every religion teaches the existence of an animating principle as a fundamental religious fact. But it never occurred to any of the earth's educated classes that the brain and nerve system so minutely described in their anatomies was the mechanism used by the intelligent, animating principle or power to co-ordinate the functions of the body, and that this mechanism (brain and nerve system) would not function normally when it was impaired by a harder tissue.

This is a brief explanation of the fundamental differences in theory and practice of Chiropractic and other health professions. It is the recognition of these fundametal facts that distinguishes the real Chiropractor from the imitator. The imitators usually add some outside agents, such as electricity, vibration, stretching machines, baths, etc., in the hope that Innate Intelligence will respond by an expenditure of mental impulses to adapt to the stimulus, and thus be beneficial to the patient.

A Vision of the Future

Vision is the force that impels every great organization. The Chiropractic profession is an organization made up of men and women who have a vision of millions of human souls searching for relief. This is the vision which led them to Chiropractic, and this is the vision which is always with them, ever urging to more stupendous efforts and more effective service.

The Chiropractors who grasp the idea of Innate Intelligence and the vision of the future have the capacity to grasp the magnitude of the problems confronting the profession. They are always first to subscribe their money, time and energy to any co-operative effort that benefits the profession and brings Chiropractic to the suffering public. They fight with a determination born of the enthusiasm of conviction.

With the momentum already acquired it is esafe to predict that Chiropractic will make greater strides in the next quarter century than it has in the past.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Occupying a dilapidated shack in the Silent City, a squatter settlement near Ithaca, New York, Polly Hopkins lives with her father, small Jerry, and old woman, Granny Hope. On an adjoining farm, Oscar Bennett, prosperous farmer, is a neighbor. He is secretly married to Evelyn Robertson, supposedly wealthy girl of the neighborhood. Polly alone knows their secret. Marcus MacKenzie, who owns the ground the squatters occupy, is their determined enemy. Polly overhears a conversation between MacKenzie and a stranger, in which the former avows his intention of driving the squatters from his land. The stranger sympathizes with the squatters, and wins Polly's gratitude.

CHAPTER II.—Evelyn Robertson discovers from her mother that they are not rich as she supposed, but practically living on the bounty of Robert Percival, Evelyn's cousin.

CHAPTER III.—Polly learns from Evelyn that the sympathetic stranger is Robert Percival. Evelyn charges Polly with a message to Bennett, telling him she can give him no more money, and urging him to elope. She already bitterly regrets her infatuation with and marriage to the ignorant farmer.

Pollyop took a couple of steps backward toward the door, ready to fly if Oscar showed any signs of unusual wrath.

"She said you wasn't to write her any more letters," she replied. "She's awful scared. She trembled all over when she told me."

"What did she say about money?" Bennett demanded gruffly.

Through the dim light of the lantern, Polly looked at him pleadingly.

Although he had not finished his task, Bennett jumped up from his stool, and one step took him very close to the nervous young speaker.

"She can't, eh?" he cried. "She means she won't, I guess. By God, she will, or I'll come out with the whole thing. You go and tell her so. She's got rich folks, and I didn't marry her to keep quiet all my life. Tell her either she comes home here to me, or she pays up. If she pays——" he paused, then laughed. "Oh, you needn't look at me as if I was goin' to swat you one, Pollyop," he went on, "but as I can never, if she pays up and I get rid of her, then—me for you, Polly girl."

Pollyop's face was naven, and his manner cruel. Polly retreated to the doorway.

"Well, time's here," Oscar went on, "when both you women will be leaping to my god. There! Get home and say to my lady just what I said—" Again he broke off, only to continue, leaving out the part about you. See, Pollyop?"

Dumb with dread, Polly sagged heavily against the door casing. No wonder Evelyn Robertson didn't want to live with such a man!

"And you can tell her to come tonight at nine o'clock to Granny Hope's old shack," he proceeded. "I want to talk to her. Now get along and don't come around after any more milk, or I'll throw you out of the barn."

Glad to be gone, Polly passed out to the lane. In a little ravine at her left a rocky stream rumbled down the hill. With startled eyes she watched it through the fast gathering dusk flow down to the lake. It was then she saw something moving about in a small pool of water in a rock basin. Carefully she put the milk and eggs on a bit of smooth turf. Down the bank she slipped, and there in the falling gloom, struggling in the water, was a baby lamb. Pollyop tucked her skirts up about her waist and waded into the water. Several times she fell, and, dripping wet, scrambled up again. When she pulled the lamb to the bank, she dropped to the ground, gasping for breath.

"Poor little duffer," she murmured. "You was 'most gone, wasn't you? Come on home with Pollyop an' get dried up a bit!"

As the road she picked up the pail, slipped the eggs into the milk and went swiftly down the lane, the lamb under one arm. Polly's heart sang with gladness. Out of the rigors of the Storm country, out of the cold driving water, she had found another little thing to care for.

Jeremiah Hopkins and Larry Bishop were in the shack when Polly arrived with her burdens. With much pride she displayed the lamb; then she fed him a portion of the milk with a spoon. While she was preparing the evening meal she invited her father's friend to take potluck with them.

After supper she settled her family, with Jerry she tucked into Daddy's bed, and Granny Hope was made comfortable in a chair by the stove, where she soon nodded off to sleep. Then, the lamb in her lap and the billy goat at her knee, Pollyop sat down on the edge of her cot, facing the two men. She knew by the dark expressions on their faces that a question of import had come up.

"Me an' Larry, brat, have been tryin' to think of some way of gettin' rid of Old Mare," began Hopkins grimly.

"You don't mean hurtin' him, Daddy dear, do you?" she broke out. "Oh, if that's what you're talkin' about, don't do it. Don't do it, Daddy! Something beautiful is goin' to happen to us squatters. God up in the sky sent a angel smack down from high heaven to help us."

The serious, lovely face turned pleadingly, truthfully up to his prevented Hopkins from indulging his desire to laugh. Polly turned and looked at Larry. His dark face was heavy with frown and deep, grief-cut lines.

"There ain't any angels anywhere but up there," muttered Larry Bishop, making an upward thrust with his thumb.

"Yep, there is, Larry," contradicted Polly impetuously. "I seen one. He's bigger'n you an' Daddy put together, I guess; an' his face looks like the sun, all shiny an' bright. He says the squatters has to have a place to live in just like other folks, an' he won't let Old Mare run us out of the Silent City. Mebbe after a while, when he gets to workin' for us, you can hunt an' fish just the same as ever!"

Hopkins looked at his daughter as if she had lost her mind.

"What's eatin' you, brat?" he grunted.

"Nothin'," replied Polly, "but I know what I heard."

"Spiel it out to us," put in Bishop eagerly.

Then Polly told them. Both men laughed.

"Why, he's got more money'n Old Mare, Poll," snapped Hopkins. "It's just because we don't happen to be settin' on his ground that he ain't wantin' us off."

It was quite evident that both the fishermen were of one opinion. Polly

It Was Quite Evident That Both the Fishermen Were of One Opinion.

"I bet a eel he helps us squatters, though," she nodded positively. "An' you both got to promise right now on this," she picked up Granny Hope's Bible, "that you won't use a gun on Marc MacKenzie, nor do nothin' harmful to him. Let the other man look after us. There! Kiss this here book, an' you'll both feel better."

There was something compelling about the girl. It may have been the tones of her voice, wonderfully sweet and tremendously earnest. It may have been the brilliant smile she flashed upon her listeners. At any rate, the mayor of the Silent City and Larry Bishop, his henchman, repeated in dull apathy the oath she dictated to them, the words that made the Storm country a safe habitation for Marcus MacKenzie. Then both men reverently kissed the Bible and fell back limply in their chairs.

Polly kissed the ragged edges of the book too, then she turned to Hopkins.

"Daddy, honey, I'm goin' out. Give your kid a lovin' smack. I'll be back quicker'n the billy goat can blink."

CHAPTER V.

The afternoon had been unpleasant for both Mrs. Robertson and her daughter. The lady was studiously icy to Evelyn, and the girl was utterly miserable. Robert Percival was away with MacKenzie. In his absence, although the two women ate dinner together and kept each other company afterward in the drawing room, their conversation was limited to the simplest commonplaces. The return of the men eased the tension, Percival excused himself almost at once to write some letters, and as MacKenzie made evident his eagerness to get Evelyn by herself, Mrs. Robertson seized a chance to steal away to her own room.

WEEKLY Development SECTION

RICHMOND IS TAKING PLACE AS CITY OF GOOD HOMES

"If a town is good enough to make your living in, it is good enough to live in."

It's a truth.

Richmond's residents—those folks who believe her hillsides and her vales are as fine and as fair as any part of God's Footstool, are telling the world that this town is not only a prosperous town with numberless big industries, but that with fine streets, the schools, good parks proposed and an up to the minute zoning system tentatively adopted, Richmond will offer the home-builder unmatchable attractions.

Remember: "If a town is good enough to make your living in, it is good enough to live in."

Do you own yours?

J. J. O'Brien Home From Hospital Soon

John J. O'Brien, who lives at 601 Bissell avenue, and who underwent an operation at Fabiola hospital, Oakland, recently, is reported to be rapidly improving. His family and friends expect him home early next week.

Port and Harbor of City Insure Richmond's Future As Great Industrial Center

The future of Richmond in the co-operative contest among the live cities of Northern California may truthfully be said to rest upon the expansion and rational development of her harbor.

Where there is deep water there may men build with hope of prosperity.

The harbor and dock at Liverpool have kept that city to the forefront in spite of a climate that is a combination of Pittsburg in July and Puget Sound in January.

Richmond, with a climate that is equable at all seasons, and with a back country that truthfully is termed "The World's Bread Basket," ought and will forge to the front as one of the world's safe harbors.

In a short time, when the dredging shall have gone forward and the training walls properly installed, this city's inner harbor will be one of the Bay region's big assets.

RICHMOND Y LAYS OUT YEAR'S WORK

"We want every boy and every man in Richmond to know that we are here to serve them, without cost and without question," said Secretary V. D. Brammer of the Richmond Y. M. C. A., when asked by the Record-Herald to indicate what plans and policies might be embraced in the ensuing year's schedule.

The "Y" has a six thousand dollar budget.

Richmond "Y's" Problem

And the problem that confronts the Richmond unit is making those six thousand cover the needs of a modern industrial city of 20,000 population.

One thousand boys and 150 men are now being reached by the Y. M. C. A.

The reading room in the Schram building is growing in popularity. Not only is it enjoyed by folks wanting to consult magazines and newspapers, but as a committee meeting room for business men and a rest room for tired women shoppers.

New Residents Come Here From Modesto

Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Hensel have come from Modesto to reside in Richmond and will be located at Thirty-third street and Nevin avenue. They are the parents of Mrs. C. C. Sanford, until recently Mrs. John Donnenwirth, of 115 Vacca street. On frequent occasions they have visited here and have many old time friends in the city, among them Mr. and Mrs. John Bly of 109 Montecito avenue.

Two Camps This Year

This year the Richmond "Y" will conduct two camps in the great outdoors of California. There will be one for the older boys and one for the juniors. There will be complete equipment, including tents and the other paraphernalia necessary to outdoor life.

Last year Richmond went with Berkeley, but this year the local "Y" will paddle its own boat.

Thirty-six boys went last year. Seventy-five will go this year.

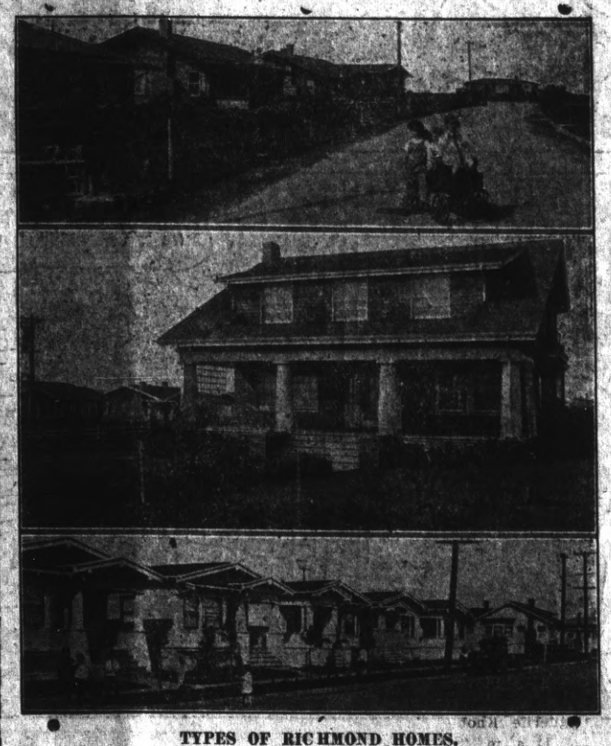
Monday at noon the board of directors will meet and will elect four new directors to fill vacancies.



TYPES OF RICHMOND HOMES.

Mrs. Gray Entertains Afternoon Bridge

Members of the Afternoon Bridge Club were delightfully entertained by Mrs. E. Gray, 1526 Bissell Avenue, on Friday afternoon. The luncheon table was decorated with Valentine symbols. The prizewinners of the day were: First, Mrs. E. Gray; second, Mrs. A. C. Moorehead. Mrs. Blanche Innis of Berkeley and Mrs. Allen Morrow substituted for two of the members, who were unable to attend.

Miss Fanny Brown Is Given Linen Shower

Miss Fannie Brown of this city was given a linen shower last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilstrop in Berkeley and many beautiful gifts were presented to her. Music, dancing and games made the evening pass only too quickly and at a late hour a delicious supper was served by the hostess. Miss Brown's engagement to Harry Ibbetson of Richmond Annex was announced at the Christmas season.

But this memorial is not to be builded at the expense of the smaller posts of Contra Costa county.

When the county council meets at Martinez on February 20 it is believed that there will be a minimum of friction, and that all the Legionnaires will work for a plan to put before the Board of Supervisors that will meet the endorsement of the tax-paying public.

Richmond, as the largest and richest town in the county, may be expected to have a home that is commensurate with its status in the galaxy of cities.

The members of the county council from Richmond Post are: Commander T. M. Carlson and Adjutant Ward McRacken, honorary; A. W. Vickery, Joe Bowen, Al Browning, W. S. Pierce and George Tandy.

He purposes that the duty roster shall contain a list that is coextensive with the membership list.

In keeping with this policy, a partial personnel of committees has been announced. There are two committees yet to be filled. They are those on employment and insurance, and vocational training.

The committees named follow:

Americanization—Paul Little, chairman; C. H. Fulkerson, Edward Burg, Auditing Committee—David Gross, chairman; Clyde Conn, C. J. Lambrecht.

Building—Paul Little, chairman; C. L. Abbott, W. A. Vickery, Al Browning, T. M. Carlson.

Employment and Insurance—T. N. Calfee.

Entertainment — George Tandy, chairman; John Smalley, Frank Grunhut, Bruce Brownlee, Joe Sturm, Ernest Miller.

Legislative—A. B. Hinkley, chairman; W. A. Vickery, Wilbur Pierce, Harvey Mills.

Membership—Al Browning, chairman; W. A. Vickery, Fred Bergerow, F. Wake, Chalmer Tifft, W. C. Dobler, Robert Pickert, Joe Bowen, C. H. Kinsey, E. C. Lambrecht.

Ceremonies—W. A. Vickery, chairman; Tommy Nee, bugler; Joe Bowen, H. M. Calkins, Wilbur Oakley, I. D. Newcomb, O. H. Fulkerson, S. A. Detlow, R. Molen.

Reception—Ed Helzen.

Early and Laight Trio Feature of T.&D. Bill Today

The Early Laight Trio, three comedy singers and dancers, just out for a good time—for the audience—heads the bill at the Richmond T. & D. Theater on Sunday. This trio has a pleasing repertoir of songs and dances, and is one of the most versatile troups of its kind on the Vaudeville stage.

Other numbers on the vaudeville bill are: Helman, a comedy magician; McFadden and Walsh in comedy singing and talking; Oro and Francis, Chinese and black faced comedians, and Morris and Clifton in an outburst of Irish humor. It is a pleasing combination and assures the audience the worth of its money in amusement.

"Women Who Wait" is the film feature of the bill. It is a story of the sea, and includes among the cast of stars producing it Marguerite Clayton, Creighton Hale and George MacQuarry. It is a drama of Cape Cod folks, and has a sincere, straight-forward, human story, mingling tears and smiles, whose action swells to a climax that culminates in a spectacular scene of thrilling power.

Dodge Car Will Carry U. S. Mail

When Otto Keller of the post office department wanted a car that would give the best of service at all times for hauling mail from the Railroad to the post office, he decided that the reputation of the Dodge car showed that was the car above all others to meet his needs and he has received delivery of a new Dodge Brothers screen car from J. P. Strom.

Three Musketeers Top Liner At the Macdonald Today

Manager Lane of the Macdonald Theater is gratified to offer to the public today and tonight Dorothy Dalton in "The Three Musketeers," Alexander Dumas' great romance.

The picture is a first-class production in all respects. The romance, the action and the picturesqueness of the original story are skillfully capitalized. As to excellence of cast in acting and in name value, might be said to have edge on the Fairbanks' aggregation, with the exception, of course, of the star part.

Details very elaborately the wild ride from Paris to the coast, with a dozen combats with the Cardinal's spies on the way; D'Artagnan's arrival in London and interview with Buckingham; the battle of wits with Miladi; the return to France by ship, including the momentary defeat by Rochefort; the escape by swimming and the closing episode at the Royal ball where the diamonds are presented in time for the King's inspection and the Cardinal's defeat. All that is done in a well-knit narrative without subterfuge and with a wealth of hard riding and frequent interludes of sword play.

There can be no question of the quality of the production.

Irving Cummings in "Corporal Jim's Sword," a serial, called "The Sky Ranger," and "Pot Roast," a comedy, complete the bill.

Social Assembly Cancel Dance Date

On account of the illness of many of the members the February meeting of the Social Assembly will not take place on the 16th as previously announced and no date will be set at present.

BONUS NIGHT FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

"Bonus Night" will be celebrated by Richmond Post No. 10, American Legion, at the regular meeting to be held in Odd Fellows' hall Friday night, February 24.

Commander T. M. Carlson has requested the California State Welfare Board to send a speaker to Richmond to fully explain to the members the suggested compensation bill, and also to advise the post on the subject of the options they may exercise under the California law.

Department Commander John R. Quinn has asked Carlson to recommend a name for appointment to the office of Americanization officer, which every post in the state will have. Carlson forwarded a list of names from which Quinn is expected to make a selection.

Pythian Sisters Design New Robes

Mrs. E. C. Gregory entertained the Sewing Club of Contra Costa Temple, No. 112, Pythian Sisters, this week at her home, 646 Twenty-first street. Designs for the new robes for the drill team were talked over and it was decided to hold an all-day meeting in the near future to work on the robes.

Those present were: Mesdames Bagnall, DeBarrows, Donnelly, Delaney, E. Smith, Archibald, Jordan, Opman, Juillerat, Moore, Ingraham, Caldwell, Fry, Bowyer, Hill and Gregory.

The next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. S. A. Caldwell 687 Seventh street.

De Willo Concert Here On Wednesday

Under the auspices of the Richmond Hi-Y club there will appear at Lincoln auditorium, Wednesday evening, February 15, the DeWillo Concert Company.

This aggregation comes to Richmond with a reputation for unusual talent. There are two women and one man. Their repertoire includes violin, accordion and piano numbers, and some sweet singing besides.

The prices of admission to this big show are 45 cents for grown-ups and 25 cents for students.

The show ought to be patronized on its own merits.

GIVE FONG WAN HERBS CREDIT FOR HIS LIFE

Willits, Cal., Nov. 14, 1921.
It affords me much pleasure to express my approval of the FONG WAN HERB CO. I suffered from liver and stomach for twenty years. After X-ray and other examinations medical physicians pronounced my case a surgical one. They declared that no treatment could reach the seat of my trouble. They said that the operation would consist of removing a duodenal ulcer, my appendix and gall bladder; also that there would have to be a pyloric operation.
Dreading the operating table, I took up treatment with the FONG WAN HERB CO., 548 Eighth St., Oakland. At that time I weighed but 126 pounds, my normal weight being 170 pounds. My condition in general was very weak.
After three months' use of the Herbs, I went to work handling lumber ten hours each day. Have now held the job fourteen months and have not lost a day on account of my old trouble. It is the first time I have been able to go longer than three months in twenty years without being sick in bed. I feel that I can give the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT credit for my life. My present weight is 160 pounds.

Father Submits To Daughter's Whim

"Now let me get this straight, Elsie. You are going to a party over the week end and you need a sweater, a skirt, a hat and an evening dress. Don't you think that is a lot of money to ask your dad for all at once?"

"Oh, no, father, please. I haven't had any clothes for ages and I do want to have a lovely time. I just must have these things. All the other girls will have pretty evening dresses and gorgeous sports togs. Please! Please!"

"How will it be, Elsie, if I begin making you an allowance for clothes? I've been thinking of this for a long time. I'll give you, say, $20 a month and you may either save it until you have enough ahead of buy things every month. Do you want to try that? I don't like the idea of your sudden demands for a lot of new clothes at once."

"Oh, dad, that will be wonderful. Thank you so much. I know where I will go. I will go to 528 13th street and get what I want at Cherry's. I will not have to make a first payment for thirty days and then arrange for monthly payments after."

HOW CAN WE MAKE MONEY?

That is the problem that is puzzling us all. We must make money, and save it, for old age and the proverbial "rainy day," and there are few ways of doing it. Merchandising is not doing it to any extent, manufacturing costs millions and is beyond the reach of the average individual. Gold mining and oil are the only two channels offering big inducements, and these are good if judgment and due care is taken.

Experts Pick Winner

Twenty-five business men and citizens of Richmond have combined to open up what has every appearance of a wonderful gold mine in Sierra County, at Allegheny, where some of California's most famous gold producing mines are located, which district has been picked by the mining experts of the Clark interest, the best in the world, as being worthy of investment and development.

Adjoining the property of this Richmond company, the Sierra Gold Mining Company, is the now famous Kate Hardy mine, on the same quartz ledge, and the Hardy management all say that whatever they have the Richmond company also has, and that it cannot be otherwise, the only difference being that one is developed and the other is not, but men are now at work opening it up and have already encountered pay ore.

Unusual Opportunity

There is an opportunity for twenty-five more men to "get in on the ground floor" in this home gold mining proposition, for the purpose of obtaining needed power plant and machinery, and those who have investigated consider it the chance of a lifetime to realize big and reasonably quick profits.

After the list is filled to the amount of fifty, no more can get in at all, as it is proposed to keep this a close corporation, only disposing of enough of the stock to provide the needed equipment.

Wonderful Gold Ore Found

Dispatches this week from Nevada City state in the Sacramento Bee and the San Francisco Examiner that the Kate Hardy mine at Allegheny is in "veritable bonanza gold ore, a ledge of very high grade having been opened for hundreds of feet, extending from surface to unknown depth, running into big sums per ton in gold values."

Expect Quick Returns

This is great news to the Richmond company, which expects to break into the same high grade ore by May next, and possibly any day, as indications of it are most favorable right now.

Take A Look At The Gold

For full particulars of this opportunity to "Make Money," inquire at the company's office, Room 6, Schram building (over the Big Store), where samples of the wondrous Hardy gold ore can be seen, printed literature obtained and full details given by George MacPherson, local fiscal agent. It costs nothing to investigate and a small sum invested, payable in monthly installments, may make you comfortably well off. The company is officered by Richmond men of high standing for experience, knowledge, ability and integrity.
